Like whiskey, the production of aged tea cannot be hurried or falsified (though forgery appears to be an even bigger problem with vintage tea than it is with whiskey), so it might take a long time to align production with demand, with scarcity and the resultant high prices the norm until then. The North American Indian (1907-1930) This copy of "The North American Indian" (1907-1930) by Edward S. That copy sold for $42,500 at Heritage Auctions in 2019.1963 Mercedes-Benz 300 SL Roadster This 1963 Mercedes-Benz 300 SL Roadster sold for $3,085,000 at Gooding & Co. on 13 August 2021 Final price including Buyers' Premium: $3,085,000 Auction House: Gooding & Co. | Date sold: 13 August 2021 Estimate: $2,000,000 to $2,500,000 Official Auction Page The $3,085,000 price of this car is effectively a record price for the Mercedes-Benz 300 SL Roadster, as only one car has ever sold for more than that and it is a freakish occurrence where the 11th-last-car made was gifted when new and hardly ever used. As one of the most successful living artists of 2021, and as one of the very first artists to have a payday of that magnitude, Bieple has helped change the world. "Le Bassin aux nymphéas" by Claude Monet Measuring nearly 40 by 79 inches, "Le Bassin aux nymphéas" was created between 1917-19 and was conceived as part of Claude Monet's series of monumental paintings depicting his beloved lily pond at his home in Giverny, France. Goldman's late husband, S. "I was a college kid, and I was just known as Mike Jordan. Now the $500,000 paid in 1992 for a six-liter bottle of 1992 Screaming Eagle was also at a charity event, into the bronze nei, and together with the delicacy of the craftsmanship, this indicates it was probably created for ceremonial use as it would not stand up to use in combat.1948 Patek Philippe 18K Pink Gold World Time Watch Ref. It was lauded by Albert Einstein as "perhaps the greatest intellectual stride that it has ever been granted to any man to make," so the manuscript of revisions was expected to fetch a princely sum. One of the three, previously unrecorded, surfaced at auction in May and that's why we're listing a $7,828 million wristwatch as significant. "Pumpkin" (2013) by Yayoi Kusama "Pumpkin" by Yayoi Kusama sold for HKD 62,540,000 at Christie's on 1 December 2021 Final price including Buyers' Premium: HK $62,540,000 ($8,020,467) Auction House: Christie's | Date sold: 1 December 2021 Estimate: SHKD 45,000,000 - HKD 65,000,000 Official Auction Page Success has been a long time in coming for 92-year-old Japanese artist Yayoi Kusama, who first came to prominence in 1960s New York. In the painting, Batman and Spider-Man lie discarded in a bin; instead, the child clutches a new idol. The audiences are different, and in general the cars are a lot different and the news services were irresponsible in not pointing that out. This became the most valuable lot: a one-off collection from the last four remaining casks of Glenfiddich distilled in 1955, 1957, 1958 and 1959.1982-83 Michael Jordan Game-Worn University of North Carolina Jersey From little acorns ... no-one could have known just how high Michael Jordan's star would soar when he wore this jersey in 1982-83. The notorious gangster's life has been the subject of many movies over the last 75 years, which heightened his notoriety long after his death and no doubt contributed to the extraordinary price fetched by this gun. In terms of accuracy, the FBI website probably gives the most detail regarding Capone's life, though in only reporting established fact, there's obviously a lot of the story missing. It was obviously going to be the highest priced and most sought-after LeBron James card because of the 99 limited edition cards issued, it was the one with his jersey number # 23. Several other basketball cards topped the million dollar mark this year, being a 1996-97 Topps Chrome Refractors 138 Kobe Bryant Rookie Card that sold for 1,752,000, a 2004-05 Upper Deck "Ultimate Signatures Logos" #1051-J LeBron James Signature Logoman Game Used Patch Card (#17) sold for $1,291,500, and a 2003-04 UD "Exquisite Collection" Exquisite Rookie Patch Autograph (RPA) #78 LeBron James Signed Patch Rookie Card (#32/99) that sold at auction for $1,272,000 in October at Goldin.1967 Lamborghini Miura P400 sold for $1,902,500 at Gooding & Company's Pebble Beach Auction on 14 August, setting a new world record for the model. Plato is unique in history in that his entire body of work has survived intact for over 2400 years. They are the ideal way to package the origins behind the web. "Stay Free" (2021) by Edward Snowden NSA whistleblower Edward Snowden sold his first NFT this year, creating a mosaic from the paperwork of the 2015 Second Circuit Court of Appeals decision which ruled illegal the NSA mass surveillance Snowden first exposed. Each year ArtPrice's Art Market Report has a section that lists the top 500 most valuable artists for the year by auction revenue, and we looked back over the last 21 years to validate Monet's consistency. In 10 of the last 21 years, Monet has been in the top five artists for the year measured by total auction revenue. Final price including Buyers' Premium: $1,560,000 Auction House: Heritage Auctions | Date sold: 11 July 2021 No Estimate Official Auction Page There have been many consequences of the global COVID-19 pandemic that could not have been foreseen, but surely the most bizarre outcome has been the explosion of video game prices at auction. Featuring Spider-Man's first public outing, the comic leaped over the world comic price record previously held for eternity by "Action Comics # 1," most recently reset when it sold for $3.25 million earlier in 2021. In 2018, two sold for $825,000 and $770,000 respectively, and in 2019 three sold ($885,000, $912,500 and $918,500). Those transactions did not occur at auction, though they were brokered by reputable auction houses. There are more factors at play than just the public response to COVID-19 in what has become a cardboard gush over the last two years, and one of the primary reasons for the mass demand at the top end of the sports card marketplace has been the entry of "fractional purchase" services such as Collectible, OnlyAid and Rally. These apps enable individuals to purchase a fraction of a rare collectible card in a similar way to purchasing stock, and with those companies going after the very best cards to entice new members, they have jumped the queue by going direct to the auction houses and offering prices that guarantee them their first crack at the prime stock. Shutz was an unlikely artist. Standardizing global time, setting up time zones and facilitating the future so that long-distance trains could run on time wasn't discussed seriously until the 1870s and things began to get moving at the International Meridian Conference in Washington in 1884, with the French the last to fall into line in 1911. When they built a racing version, the sports car rules of the day meant the McLaren F1 GTR V12 engine had to be fitted with an air restrictor to limit power output to 592 hp (441 kW), making the racing car less powerful than the road car. James, if you don't get the lot, make sure you get weak side rebound position. All of the casks on the price record list are still stored at the Macallan Distillery in Easter Elchies, Craigellachie where the rent and insurance will cost about £250 per year per barrel and if you want to sample the merchandise, there's a paid service that can go to your barrel, siphon out the number of bottles you want and dispatch them to you. In addition to the NFT, there's the artwork NFT - surely it makes more sense to get some artwork you like and negotiate the cost of using that instead. The world record now stands at $6,030,312 following the sale of Sheriff Pat Garrett's Colt Single Action Army Revolver that he used to kill "Billy The Kid" on July 14, 1881. The Bonhams' auction in Los Angeles on August 27 featured an array of famous early west guns. From "The Collection of Jim and Theresa Earle," with a Whitney Shotgun used by "Billy the Kid" during his famous courtroom escape selling for $978,312, the Colt Revolver used to shoot John Wesley Hardin fetching $858,312, Hardin's Smith & Wesson Revolver selling for $625,312 and Wild Bill Hickok's Springfield Trapdoor Rifle fetching $475,312. His record at auction is $1,140.5 million ("Untitled" | Sotheby's | 18 May 2017), followed by this painting at $93.1 million ("In This Case" | Christie's | May 2021). High prices including $57.3 million ("Christie's" | 10 September 2019), $50.8 million ("Verus Medici" | Sotheby's | 12 May 2021), $45.3 million ("Dustbowl" | Pariss's | 11 May 2018), $41.3 million ("Flexibility" | Phillips | 17 May 2018) and $41.9 million ("Watson" | Christie's | 23 March 2021). This year it stepped well away from its comfort zone by creating a desk clock. It sold for HK$35,000,000 ($5,489,050) at Poly Auction in Beijing on 5 December 2021 Final price including Buyers' Premium: HK$35,000,000 ($5,489,050) Auction House: Poly Auction | Date sold: 5 December 2021 No Estimate Official Auction Page Some remarkable artistry originates in China that is rarely seen in the outside world, though this exquisite Chinese Gilt-Brnze, enamel and paste-set quarter-striking and musical table clock seems to have traveled internationally. It had pistons that resemble ash cans and a five and one half inch stroke that drew in enough air on the down breath to start a Kansas Tornado. That quote was sourced from Classic Driver's preview of the 2021 auction. The remarkable thing about this particular car is that when it rolled across the Gooding & Co stage at the official Pebble Beach auction in August 2021, it carried with it a low estimate higher than the world record price for a Stutz, yet it waltzed past the low estimate and into the record books ... for a second time. It seems that the last time this car went to auction was in Pebble Beach in 2006, where Gooding & Co sold it for a record $715,000, so little has changed in 15 years except for the price, costing more than $2 million more. The car was in near perfect condition, but the biggest determining factor in this particular version of the car that "made good in a day" was the documentation. His price record was set on 11 May 2015, when "Les Femmes d'Alger (Version O)" sold at a Christie's auction for $179,365,000, becoming the world's most expensive painting until Salvador Mundi emerged. The second-most valuable Picasso was $165 million for "Le Réve" (1932), a private sale brokered by Christie's on 26 May 2013 and like the painting sold this year, also depicting Marie-Thérèse Walter. Though at first the response to a friendly writing challenge, Mary went on to expand and develop the story extensively with insight from her husband, examining themes of loss, defying nature, guilt, and parental guidance, that played a significant role in her own life. The glass Slipper Vineyard in the Napo Valley, and it is the first wine ever to be released from this vineyard. The most expensive such microscope was in magnificent condition and came in its own travel case when sold for $991,500 ($1,544,369) at Christie's July 1998 sale of the collection of Barons Nathaniel and Albert von Rothschild. Another sold at a Sotheby's Paris auction in October 2008 at the epicenter of the Global Financial Crisis, fetching €900,750 ($1,156,833) when almost nothing else sold in the auction of important Furniture, Sculptures And Works Of Art. There's another of these microscopes currently on display at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York. Alexander Hamilton's Flintlock Holster Pistols and Epaulettes Alexander Hamilton's Flintlock Holster Pistols and Epaulettes Hamilton's fine price including Buyers' Premium: $1,150,000 Auction House: Rock Island Auctions | Date sold: 14 May 2021 Estimate: $1,000,000 to $3,500,000 Official Auction Page This lot actually comprised both a pair of flintlock holster pistols inscribed "AH" and carried by Alexander Hamilton during the Revolutionary War, plus the epaulettes Hamilton wore as a Colonel serving under George Washington. The scarcity of crop species requires strict resource management. Bryon, the soon-to-wed Mary and Percy Shelley, John Polidori, and Mary's sister, Claire Clairmont, passed three days there during the "Year Without a Summer" in 1816. Harriman, the King of England and other well-heeled patrons. This is the game that is currently the hottest in the 1927 British Grand Prix at Brooklands. Ninety-five years ago, this car was unquestionably the dominant racing car in the world. CHE-403.078.756 Baarstrasse 75 6300 Zug Switzerland. That's a fascinating backstory, including being commanded by Hitler's senior art agent, but the most important part of which is that this particular cup made in 1628 by Jacob Claesz de Grebber, also appears in a painting by Gerrit Willemss. Though these masks have been highly prized by museums and galleries, this is easily the most expensive Nimba mask to have sold at auction, having come from the exquisite Michel Périnet collection of masterpieces of African, Oceanic and American art. One interesting aspect of this lot is that Wikipedia's entry on the Nimba mask, and the Lot Essay, both make mention of the influence of the Nimba mask on Pablo Picasso. Christie's Lot Essay reads: "The Guinean invention was also a determining one for the adventure of Western modern art. Final price including Buyers' Premium: $2,330,000 Auction House: Metacats | Date sold: 22 October 2021 No Estimate Official Auction Page The sale of whisky casks is a recent innovation, and one can understand why, when you realize that unlike wine, once whisky leaves the barrel and takes up residence in the bottle, its aging process ceases. Christie's overview and explanation of the sale can be found here. First edition of Mary Shelley's "Frankenstein" - the first science-fiction novel A first edition of Mary Shelley's Frankenstein sold at Christie's on 14 September 2021 for $1.17 million. Gooding & Co definitely set a world record when it sold a red 1968 P400 for $1,902,500 at Pebble Beach in August, and then Silverstone Auctions sold a blue 1967 P400 at the Riyadh Car Show Auction in Saudi Arabia on 25 November. This printing of the Constitution was last sold at auction in 1988, when it achieved $165,000 by Mrs. When I hit that spot, my whole name became Michael Jordan. 2523 that were produced in yellow gold is three, one of which is in the Patek Philippe museum. Final price including $81,547,660 Auction House: Poly Auction Beijing | Date sold: 7 July 2021 Estimate: Not Available Official Auction Page This 63 cm tall revolving vase became the world's most expensive ceramic during July, no doubt confirming for many the wisdom of investing in ceramics of the finest quality. Final price including Buyers' Premium: $28,000,000 Auction House: RR Auction | Date sold: 13 June 2021 No Estimate Official Auction Page Though the auction of a seat on Blue Origin's suborbital spaceship took place in June, it wasn't until the final few days of the year that the winner broke cover and it turned out to be 31-year-old crypto pioneer, Justin Sun. Inside five years it won the Formula One Drivers and Constructors Championships in 1969, then continued onward, winning the Tour de France Automobile (1970, 1971) and the 24 Hours of Le Mans (1972, 1973, 1974). It's hard to say what created the most national pride, but winning the world's most important race in its own backyard certainly endeared the French people. This year, the Matra MS670 that took the first 1972 victory in the marquee's famous three-peat in the most famous race in the world went up for sale. Final price including Buyers' Premium: $275,000,000 Auction House: Concierge Auctions | Date sold: 31 December 2021 No Estimate Official Auction Page Now we're fudging a bit with this lot because it was due to sell at auction in December 2021 but at the last minute the bidding end-date was extended 90 days and we won't know how much it sells for for a few weeks yet. Stack's Bowers and Ponterio had a bumper year with consecutive "largest ever" auctions in Hong Kong, offering over 13,000 coins, medals, tokens, and currency lots across both auctions. Though an 1825 pattern Russian Ruble established the record for the most expensive non-U.S. coin sold by an American auction house at $2,640,000, the most spectacular coin in the auction must surely have been this Japanese Oban from the Tencho Era which became the most valuable Japanese coin ever sold at auction when it crossed the block for $1,920,000. The Gold Oban was first minted in 1958 and it was the largest denomination in the Tokugawa coinage system, which also used real silver and bronze coins. View gallery - 14 images The 2021 auction year was quite extraordinary, with almost all auction categories reporting unprecedented levels of participation and sales. For the last five years, the New Atlas end-of-year market recap of the science, sci-fi and technology-related lots, but this year we've decided to do it a little differently by including all auction genres in our analysis. Michael Jordan UNC Highlights - Narrated by Sean Smith & Woody Durham "Up until that point, nobody knew who I was," Jordan told a journalist years later. Clearly, the market for scientific manuscripts, technology and sci-fi memorabilia was finally beginning to move. We have long looked at the marketplace for science and technology memorabilia was grossly undervalued and fundamental breakthroughs in understanding of every aspect of science will one day be valued far more than they are today. Indeed, as such remarkable technological progress has been made in the last century, many fundamental texts and artifacts are still available at prices that do not yet reflect historical perspective. Over the next few years it also won its class in the 1969 1000 KM of Spa-Francorchamps, and 1969 500 KM of Imola. When it last went to auction, it sold for $9,405,000 at Bonhams' 2015 Scottsdale Auction and in 2018 it was restored and optimized for vintage racing. Only two other GTB/Cs went to auction in the intervening period, with one fetching $14,520,000 at Gooding & Company's Pebble Beach auction in 2017 and another failing to sell against a $12,000,000 to $14,000,000 estimate at Gooding & Company's 2018 Pebble Beach Auction, can be called Moutai and everything else is called Baijiu, and not surprisingly given the generic nature of the Moutai term, the company is booming, already China's largest non-technology company and there are plans to take it to the world. Moutai is also known as the "drink of diplomacy", was used to welcome Richard Nixon when he visited China in 1972, and again it was used as a welcoming drink when Chinese President Xi Jinping met with Barack Obama in America. Moutai was also the favorite drink of Mao Zedong, is the primary drink served at Chinese State Banquets, and the most common Chinese diplomatic gift. In crisp, readable detail, it showed a young boy playing with a selection of superhero dolls. These were good men, fighting for a higher cause. In terms of historical significance, the name of Sheriff Pat Garrett seems out of place in such exalted company, and Billy the Kid must certainly not be belonging. Thanks to a catchy media bestowed nickname, the wave of interest in "Billy the Kid" was generated by newspapers attempting to sell copies, and resulted in an extraordinary number of media constructs that have adopted the old adage, "never let the facts get in the way of a good story." No other individual has been portrayed in more movies than Billy the Kid. Handsome male leads such as Buster Crabbe, Paul Newman, Val Kilmer, Kris Kristofferson, Emilio Estevez, Roy Rogers, Robert Vaughn, and Robert Taylor have played Billy the Kid, and in many of these movies he has been played not just sympathetically, but as a Robin-Hood-style hero. That record has already been pushed to $1.9 million in the first week of 2022 and more elite cars will be sold online every year from now onwards. By similar logic, Tiffany would no longer be viable because it was seriously outsold by Walmart last year. The trend is clearly underway towards more streamlined sales processes than the current auction system that consume 20-25 percent of the value of a sold object, but the elite end of the business is safe for the foreseeable future. The legendary "a la française" hat of Emperor Napoleon I Two of the signature Bicorné beaverskin hats worn by Emperor Napoleon I went to auction in 2021, no doubt because it was the 200th anniversary of his death. Dave's jar is much more than a jar. The only embellishment George Martin added to the "Unsold" that wasn't relevant to the Mamluks is that they were not castrated. That's a lot of supply to be commanding a price of that magnitude, which is probably a reflection on the fervent nature of the Tifosi creating such high demand. The First Tweet by Jack Dorsey Jack Dorsey's first tweet sold for 1630.5825601 ETH ($2,915,835.47) as an NFT at Valuables on 7 March, with Dorsey immediately donating the money to charity Final price including Buyers' Premium: 1630.5825601 ETH ($2,915,835.47) Auction House: Valuables | Date sold: 7 March 2021 No Estimate Official Auction Page Bitcoin advocate, former CEO of Twitter and Square, now CEO of Block, Jack Dorsey sold his first tweet as an NFT on the tweet's 15th anniversary, collecting 1630.5825601 ETH ($2,915,835.47), immediately converting it into Bitcoin and donating the entire amount to Givethrough for its Africa Response. The winning bidder was Sima Estevai, CEO of blockchain company Bridge Oracle, who said on twitter of the sale. "This is not just a tweet! I think years later people will realize the true value of this tweet. Like the Mona Lisa painting, 1914 Stutz Model 4E Bearcat sold for $2,920,000 at Gooding & Co on 14 August 2021 Final price including Buyers' Premium: $2,920,000 Auction House: Gooding & Co. | Date sold: 14 August 2021 Estimate: $2,750,000 to $3,500,000 Official Auction Page When RM Sotheby's curated its ground-breaking "Art of the Automobile" sale in November 2013, it hand-picked specific important automobiles, motorcycles and artworks to fit the theme and achieved a remarkable, market-changing result. One of the cars chosen that day was a 1912 Stutz Model 4 Bearcat, which it billed as "the car that invented American performance." The auction description for that car began thus: "Art has always been about stretching boundaries. Provenance: Collection of Dr. John A. MotorTrend did this succinct outline of the Miura that perfectly explains its place in automotive history. Superman #1 (Summer 1939) Comic NEVER BEFORE SEEN RARE SECOND HIGHEST GRADED SUPERMAN #1 Final price including Buyers' Premium: $2,604,705 Auction House: Comic Connect | Date sold: 17 December 2021 No Estimate Official Auction Page This is the first listed Superman comic which published in 1939, mere months after the success of "Action Comics #1" convinced the publishers they had a major hit on their hands in the form of the "Man of Steel." The story behind this comic book is quite extraordinary. It sold for just shy of $10 million. The PWCC Trading Card Marketplace tracks the prices of a selected group of cards to produce the PWC 100, PWC 500 and PWC 2500 Vintage Trading Card Indices. The most important are cocoon trees and breadfruit trees: they are a source of both food and all the materials necessary for day-to-day life. When "Girl with Balloon partially shredded itself just after it had sold for £1,042,000 in 2018, it seemed to supercharge his reputation, as could be seen from the result when that same painting went back to auction. 1518 with pink gold case and a salmon dial new in 1951 and it had spent its entire life in a safe deposit box - the paperwork with the watch. Final price including Buyers' Premium: £8,857,500 ($12,197,663) Auction House: Christie's | Date sold: 8 July 2021 Estimate: £8,000,000 to £12,000,000 ($11,016,800 to $16,525,200) Official Auction Page The term "Renaissance Man" was coined with Leonardo da Vinci in mind, and he is revered to such a degree that whenever his work has appeared at auction, it has smashed all sorts of records. Leonardo's "Salvator Mundi" sold for $450.3 million in 2017, becoming the most valuable artwork in history, and approximately three times the price of the second most valuable. That meant that Leonardo da Vinci was for four years the holder of both the record for an artwork and the record for a manuscript, which was set at $30,802,500 for the "Codex Leicester" at Christie's on 11 November 1994. Leonardo's record for the most valuable book or manuscript was broken when a copy of the "First Printing and "Official Edition" of the final text of the United States' Constitution" sold for $43.17 million in November 2021. The image above will serve to remind readers just how valuable the da Vinci name is - the 500-year-old "head of a bear" was the size of a post-it note at 7 x 7 cm, yet still fetched $12.2 million. Madam de Pompadour was even more interested in microscopy than Louis XV and was a frequent visitor to the laboratory. Several very similar microscopes have been to auction before, and all can be traced back to Louis XV's Cabinet du Roi à la Muette. In some ways we began to see computer and digital memorabilia began to seriously appreciate in 2021, and if you have visions of one day collecting up all those things you once owned along your tech journey into some sort of museum for the family archives, do it soon or it will become prohibitively expensive to do so. Most of the digital memorabilia is in part 2 of this article (the 152 science lots between $100,000 and $999,999) which drops next week. This article is about perspective, because we're now tracking all auction genres and we were able to watch with some form of perspective as 2021 unfolded. Now some categories grew 50 percent in the course of the year, but others saw 1000 percent growth and the aim of this article is to demonstrate perspective - and perhaps the need for some recalibration of what value really means. The world's most expensive bottle of wine The Setting Wines 2019 Glass Slipper Vineyard Cabernet Sauvignon sold for $1,000,000 during the 19th annual fundraising weekend of the Emeril Lagasse Foundation in New Orleans (5-6 November 2021) Final price including Buyers' Premium: $1,000,000 Auction House: Private | Date sold: 6 November 2021 Estimate: $600,000 to $800,000 ($825,780 to $1,101,040) Official Auction Page This six liter bottle of The Setting Wines 2019 Glass Slipper Vineyard Cabernet Sauvignon is far-and-away the most expensive bottle of wine that has ever been sold at auction, as often happens when there's a charity involved. For those who can't wait for the hourly spectacle, the show can be tripped by pulling a release cord, though no markings exist to specify its origins, it was most likely made in the clockmaking workshops of Guangzhou. Just to put that Robert Drouhin auction in perspective, that means the non-charity record for a single bottle was $310,700 on 13 October 2018, then three bottles sold for $310,000, one sold for $496,000 and one sold for $558,000. Siegel auction in October 2005 for $2.7 million. That block was secretly purchased by famous shoe designer Stuart Weitzman, a keen collector his whole life. Despite her brilliant long-term work, her reputation is little-known outside her native country. According to informed sources, the "head of a bear" is one of only eight known da Vinci drawings still in private hands. Finally, if you're a fan of da Vinci and you haven't read or listened to "Leonardo da Vinci" by Walter Isaacson, do yourself a favor and get an audiobook copy on your phone. In 48 hours, 29,983 collectors spent $91,806,519 to purchase 312,686 total units of "mass", which were then merged to create unique NFTs for each collector of "mass." As Nifty Gateway founders Duncan and Griffin Cocker Foster explained, "The Merge collection debuted a compelling mechanism novel to the world of digital art, where collectors who bought multiple units of mass during the sale period unlocked access to an exclusive NFT that expands in size as more mass is added to their collection." From December 2 through December 4, users were able to collect as much mass as they wanted. The muscular side profile of the 1953 Rolex Deep Sea Special №1 gives a hint of why it was able to submerge 10,915 meters (35,810 ft) and continue to work flawlessly. Few other watches have been able to do this. Final price including Buyers' Premium: $91,806,519 Auction House: Nifty Gateway | Date sold: 4 December 2021 No Estimate Official Auction Page While Beeples' "Everydays: The First 5000 Days" might have been the NFT that kicked the NFT marketplace into hyperrdrive, the NFT of the year is unquestionably "Merge" by Pak. The entire story is in the auction description and while it has not been proven beyond doubt that this was the watch that participated in the trials, one of the seven made went to 3150 meters deep in 1953, strapped to the outside of the "Trieste" and continued to work flawlessly. When the final descent to 10,915 meters (35,810 ft) was made some seven years later, one of these watches was again strapped to the outside of the "Trieste" and it continued to work flawlessly, holding up to a pressure of 1,150 atm or 1,150 kgs per cm2. The following day Jacques Piccard (son of the bathyscaph's designer and one of the two men inside the "Trieste" in its journey to the bottom of the Mariana Trench) sent a telegram to Rolex in Geneva that read "Am happy to confirm that even at 11,000 meters your watch is as precise as on the surface. But they're all dead, so at least by this seemingly valid measure of the success of a living artist (the amount of art sold in the most recent time frame), Banksy passed the mid-point of 2021 as the world's most successful living artist. In the second half of the year, Gerard Richter's "Abstrakte Bild" sold for $33 million, pushing our favorite guerrilla artist into second spot by year's end. But make no mistake, it was because he was very good on the battlefield that enabled him to live to a ripe age. Sure, Tricrators may be herbivores, but they are almost certainly the most recognizable animal that has ever lived, "Big John" is one of the most complete that has ever been found, and most importantly, there were no $31.8 million Tyrannosaurus Rex skeletons to contend with this year. For our part, "Big John" almost certainly has the world's biggest known head. Five years ago and a stainless steel Ref. This car is one of the final six produced and was sold with a pristine hardtop and matching luggage. This chair last sold at a Christie's auction in New York on 21 March 2002 when it fetched $248,000, becoming part of the Heveningham Hall Collection - a X-30 increase in value in 20 years is a stellar investment, and the final price was more than five times the high estimate. Similar chairs sold at Christie's New York for $424,000 in 2001, and at Sotheby's for $408,000 in 2007 and Christie's New York offered a very similar chair on 13 September 2019 that failed to sell against an estimate of $1,000,000 to $1,500,000. Perhaps the biggest difference here was the Hong Kong

COVID-19 and has returned at even greater levels. A number of the major artworks in the sale have generated their own spot on this list, with six paintings selling above $20 million. This silvered, bronze, enameled silver and gilt-bronze Elephant Automaton Clock was created in Augsburg, Bavaria circa 1600 to 1610. Charles I Silver Inkstand (1639) This Charles I Silver Inkstand (1639) sold for £1,942,500 ($2,675,017) at Christie's on 8 July 2021. Final price including Buyers' Premium: £1,942,500 ($2,675,017). Auction House: Christie's | Date sold: 8 July 2021. Estimate: $1,000,000 to $1,500,000. Official Auction Page This truly exquisite Charles I Silver Inkstand and Standish (a stand for writing materials) set a world record when it last went to auction at Christie's in 1970, fetching £78,000, almost twice the previous record price for a lot of silver sold at auction. We're proud to be at the forefront of popularising free tours, flying the flag for free tour operators, and championing the concept as the best way to get unrivaled authentic local insight to a new place, to life lived there, and how history, culture, tradition, and stories have shaped the places we visit. This could be the first $20 million McLaren F1. The McLaren F1 had a charmed existence. Clapper, which ruled illegal the NSA mass surveillance Snowden first exposed. Since those historic disclosures in 2013, Snowden has been a vocal advocate for pioneering uses of technology to empower and secure journalists, readers, and members of the general public. "Emerging applications of cryptography can play an important role in supporting our rights. Half a century later, she became the subject of an Academy Award-winning movie entitled "Frida" (2002), played by Salma Hayek, and has been the focus of many wonderful written portraits. In 2021, this "Diego y yo" self-portrait quadrupled her previous auction record ("Dos desnudos en el bosque" | $8,005,000 at Christie's, 12 May 2016) becoming the most expensive work of Latin American art sold at auction, and breaking the record held by her husband Diego Rivera, who appears on her forehead in the painting. Diego Rivera's previous Latin American art record was held by a mural entitled "The Rivals" that was commissioned by Abby Aldrich Rockefeller in 1931, was among her earliest gifts to Peggy and David Rockefeller, and was one of the stars of "The Collection of Peggy and David Rockefeller: Art of the Americas" Evening Sale on 9 May 2018. We expect those records will hold for some time barring charity events. Gilt-brass astrolabe, North-East Spain, dated 737 AH/1336-37 AD The most expensive astrolabe of 2021 was made around 1336-37 AD by a previously unknown craftsman. Perhaps a few in the stands at Indianapolis in 1911 saw Stutz's creation coming, but they were in the minority, as they were engineers and fellow veterans of the early automobile industry, and they knew Stutz's genius. When they'd done all their homework, they attacked the production lap record there and came up with 7:14.64 in 2011 - it was an unofficial record for a production car on non-competition tires, but it was enough to convince the public that the LFA was a genuine sports car (you cannot fake a fast time around "the Green Hell") and a perfect excuse to create a "hero car" in even more limited numbers. It has been done before. At the end of the sale, owners of mass obtained a dynamic NFT that merged all the mass accumulated by each collector during the sale.
